It is interesting to learn, as we now do from perfectly well-informed source, that some weeks previous to the launching of this new Chinese embassy to the west, Count Rochechouart had transmitted a desphich to his Government containing a summary of the demande which he thought ought to be made by France, when she came to treat with China on the revision of the existing treaty between reasons by which those demands should be. supported and enforced. Probably the simplest and most effectual plan would be to place those revenues at the disposal of a mixed commission, consisting of Chinese and of foreigners representing the treaty powers. M. IMPERIÁL QUARTO. ENGLISH AND CHINESE DICTIONARY PUNTI AND MANDARIN PRONUNGIATION. An Anglo-Chinese Dictionary, by the Rev. W. LOBSCHEID, published at the Daily Press Office, Hongkong. FOR scope and practical service this Work stands unrivalled. All the new words which the Ohinese have of late years been compelled to coin to express the numerous objects in machinery, photography, telegraphy, and in science generally, which the rapid advance of foreign relatious has imposed upon them, are here given in extenso. Each and every word is fully illustrated and explained, forming exercises for students of a most instructive nature. Both the Court and Punti pronunciations are given, the accents being carefully marked on the best principle hitherto attained. The typography displays the success of an attempt to make the Ohinese and English type correspond n the size of body, thereby effecting a vast economy of space, achieving a clearness no previously attained, and dispensing with those vast margins and vacant spaces which have heretofore characterized Chinese publications. The scope of the work is so great, and its utilitarian purposes so complete, that a reference to its pages enables a person who understands English to communicate effectively with natives who understand nothing but Chinese. In this respect the work will be found indispensable to all Europeans residing in China, and to the natives themselves it explains subjects fully, with which very few in dred of them are perfectly acquainted. To purples resident in England and interested in China it cannot but be invaluable occasionally. It comprises upwards of two thousand, large
